

How to Communicate Effectively

1. Research about your topic and the country you are representing

By conducting detailed research on your topic, you can establish evidence-based arguments, stand firm on your decisions and identify your allies.

2. Read all modules and complete the module quiz.

By reading all modules, you will gain a greater understanding on how the WHA SIM will run, your role in the simulation, and the various other actors.

3. Communicate in a respectful manner

When participating in the WHA SIM, communicating with other delegates and actors must be done in a respectful way. Debates are encouraged but should be done properly.

4. Present your country's viewpoints not YOUR own

While differing opinions are valid, the WHA SIM requires presenting your country's viewpoints with supporting evidence instead of personal perspectives.
